The National Temperance Convention reassembled at 10 c'clock yesterday morning, Farwell Hall being densely crowded, on the main floor. The Hon. Riram Price, President, occu-

MRS. MARTAA B. O'DONNELL spoke earnestly to the Convention on behalf of the Juvenile Templars, and explained the extent, aims, and objects of the Association. All mem-bers—all children belonging to the order—were pledged to be total abstainers, to avoid profani-ty, and to eschew liquor in any shape, and toty, and to esofew liquor in any shape, and to-bacco in any form. Youth was brought up in this organization to despise the very name of alcohol. The evils of intemperance were en-grossed upon the youthful heart by pic-torial illustrations. In fact, the juvenile mind in the Templars' organization received a healthy tenic that forever fortified it against the temptstions of the wine-up and the whisky-bottle.

window, the subject was considered that out of 1,400 convicts in the Illinois State Penitentiary three-fourths claimed to have been taught in Sunday-schools, and the same proportion attributed their fall to strong drink. This was somewhat remarkable, but it was true.

The Cheir ruled that further talk on the subject was out of order.

Father Hunt remarked that, although he had visited the Penitentiaries of the country all his life, he never found 4 per cent of the inmates who had received a religious education.
THE HON. WILLIAM Z. DODOZ. of New York, remarked that he appeared there as the representative of the National Temperance Society, which was chiefly engaged in supplying the United States with temperance literature. They had already published eighty-seven different works on temperance, for which there had been good demand. There were published weekly 150,000 copies of the Temperance Banner.
He advocated the policy of having the papers and books distributed by the different temperance societies of the country.

Im. J. N. STARENS, the Secretary of the National TemperanceSociety, remarked that the Society was in debt over $10,000. Life memberships could be procured for $20, and life directorships for $100.
He regretted to say that the churches had not contributed to the funds. The Society sent its literature all ever the world, and deserved a liberal support. They had in preparation a new eral support. They had in preparation a new book called. "Our Wasted Resources."

The PUBLICATION SOCIETY.

The following resolution, offered by Mr. John O'Donnell, of New York, was adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that the National Temperance Publication Society is doing a noble and important work in the great cause of temperance; that we especially commend its publications for public and private libraries; that we urgently press the churches of our land to place in every Sabbath-school a temperance library from the Society's publications, and we mutually pledge ourselves to a generous and hearty co-operation in the labors and burdens of the Society.

Chaplain McCabe sang an excellent song in response to persistent calls.

THE REV. THEODOME CPTLER,
of Brooklyn, was next called for. He stood, he remarked, unon holy ground—in a hall that, yet rang with the apostolic accents of D. L. Moody, who had commenced and had, in a great measure, succeeded in bringing England back to Christianity. [Applause.] If he were to offer a resolution, it would be in the following form:

Resolved, That the Lord hath wedded His holy cross and the temperance cause together, and whom God has thus joined let no man put seunder.

[Applause.] The churches should exercise their praver power in dealing with this great evil. The children should be taught to pray for temperance, and the adults should lead the movement. No more glorious mission could open for the Christian Church. [Applause.]

Mr. Powell, of New York, asked that the Committee on Prize Essays be allowed to add to their aumber, which was granted.

"There's no such word as fail" was sung by the quartette.

marks, pertinent to the occasion. He had been during forty years for temperance, and intended to stand by it to the end.

Adjourned until 2 o'clock, the report of the Committee of Resolutions being made the special order.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

SONG OF PROHIBITION.

Half an hour was devoted to religious exercises, after which the President announced that the first business in order was the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The Committe not being quite ready to report, Mrs. Washington, of Jacksonville, Ill., was introduced to read a poem, from which the following verses are selected:

Wake the song of Prohibition,—
Swell the chorus loud and long,
Of the anthems of the nation
Ne'er was heard a grander song.
It will lift a veil of sorrow,
Many hearth-fires make more bright,
It will banish much of svil,
It will aid the truth and right.

It will aid the truth and right.

There are those throughout the nation who possess no fartile soil,

Those who resp no gain from traffic.

But whose life of humble toil high, afford them food and raiment.

Should the needs of life supply.

But whose homes are homes of sorrow,

Hanuts of wretchedness, and why?

And then she goes on pathetically to show te wils bred by the rum demon, concluding, as much prophecy, as follows:

In the grandly closing cycle

Of the waning century,

Which has passed since our ancestors.

Raised the banner of the free,

May we sign a declaration

Independent of the power

Which is holding this great nation

In such bondage at this hour.

Wake the sont for Problithers.

Wake the song for Prohistion,
Let the chorus loudly swell,—
It will prove the grandest anthem
Of the great Ceutennial.
Ours will be a better nation,
Worthy of her birthright, when
She gives up the liquor traffic,
And produces noble men.
THE RESOLUTIONS.
The report of the Committee on Resolutions was then read. The majority report read as follows:

organizations as are co-operating with the churches in seeking to make men sober and lead them into the Kingdom of Christ.

Retoised, That the Sabbath-school is an efficient suriliary for the suppression of the traffic and use of intoracting liquors, and that to this end every teacher work by principles of total abstinence upon their schotzrs; that jovenile temperanes sociaties should be formed in every Sabbath-school; and that well selected temperance literature should form a part of every Sabbath-school library.

Resourced, That we hereby reaffirm the action of the National Temperance Convention of 1883, held at Cleveland. That the Church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth, is by its constitution and covenant a living protest against intemperance, the use of and traffic in intoxicating drinks being incompatible with true pisty; and its members and ministers are true to their sacred obligations only as they do their utmost to exterminate this evil from the land; and also we recommend the use of unfermented wine at the Sacrament.

moved to strike out the words " and in the sick room."

The resolution was again called for, and the reading thereof produced a tremendous confusion, which, at some points, resembled the howing of lost souls.

The Chair again implored allence, which was granted for a little while.

Fortunately some one who saw the light called for the previous question, which was ordered.

Prof. Shurtleff's amendment came first, and was lost by a large majority.

The resolution, as read, was then put and adopted. [Great cheering.]

The Chair—I have to ask as a favor from this audience that they will make less noise, and Hammond were appointed Receivers on the 22d day of February last, and immediately toor possession of the road. coal-fields of Indiana.

THE INDIANA DIVISION,
or so much as in operation, begins at Bismarck, 10 miles from Danville, and runs southeasterly to Sneddy's mills, on Coal Creek, 10 miles south of Covington. From that point to Brazil the road has been located, and the distance of 28 miles between Brazil and Montezuma has been miles between Brazil and Montezuma has been mostly graded and a mile of track laid. The operated portion of the Indiana division being about 23 miles in length in Indiana, reaches the coal-mines in Fountain County, and depends entirely for its business on the products of the mines. The Illinois branch was constructed gradually from 1869 to 1871, and opened for business in January, 1872.

When the Receivers took possession the road-bed was in good condition, as well as the iron of the north end of the line, while at the south end it was much worn. A clarge number of bridges and culverts needed repairs, and fifty of the latter demanded a remaking, as they were only temporarily constructed. As soon as the frost was out of the ground the work of PUTTING THE ROAD IN ORDER was begun, and 3½ miles of new Iron have been laid, while 7 miles more are necessary. Eight thousand ties have been put in the track, and 20,000 more are needed. Three hundred piles have also been provided, and arrangements made for fencing a portion of the road where it is most needed.

The machine and repair shops are at Danville, and well supplied with the necessary tools. The yard tracks, however, are worn out, and need repairing, and a building is wanted for a storehouse. The tracks at the freight depot and general yard in this city are worn out, and need to be replaced.

The Indiana Division, which was opened for business in July, 1873, runs through a very rough tract of country. It was only partially completed when opened for business, and was done in

A VERY CARELESS MANNER.

The bridges on this division are mainly trestle, and many in a poor condition. This over the Wabash River is a Howe tross bridge, and in good condition, though the piers on which it rests are of a temporary nature. There is no engine-house or turn-table on this whole division, and the trains have to be "backed" one way, to the great damage of the road. As soon as it equild be done, the work of repairing this division was undertaken, and a construction train was put to work deepening cuts and raising embankments so as to make the grade more uniform. Two turn-tables are being put in, and arrangements are making for the erection of an engine-house. During the March freshet a quantity of stone was placed around the piers of the Wabash River bridge, and sonsiderable work is needed to put it in good condition.

Branch also is made up largely of coal shipments, although no mines are located along its route, and its shipments since Feb. 22 hence amounted to 23,000 tons.

The trains of the road reach Chicago over the roads of the Chicago & Southern and the Pitisburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad Compauses for a distance of about 26 miles. The freight depot and yard are situated between Carroll and Kinzie streets, west of Morgan, where a large piece of land was boughtfor the accommodation of coal shippers. The title to the greater part of this land is m though it was bought with the Company's money. Young a short time ago sold or conveyed it to Charles Judson and John Tenney, relatives of President Judson and John Tenney, relatives of President Judson and Treasurer Tenney, and suit has been brought to recover it. The remainder of the land is moumbered by trust-deeds, the most of which are overdue, and the land technically forfeited. The general freight-yard on the Pittsburg Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway, together with certain other adjacent property, was purchased from S. J. Walker in the name of J. E. Young, who gave his notes for t.e. greater part of the purchasemoney, and these notes were guaranteed by the Chicago, Danville & Vincennes Railroad Company to the amount of $500,000. A large part of this land is at present advertised for sals under forcelosure of mortgages given some time previous to the purchase for the use of the Company. The title to the land on which the machine shops at Danville are built is in J. E. Young, atthough bought for the Company. There are also some tracts of donated land the title to which is in Mesers, Judson, Tenney, and Young, and the utle to the land on which the passenger depot at Danville is located is in J. G. English, the grantor.

In February last the Company owed $70,000 to the Chicago Company and $31,000 for supplies. Since the Becavers took charge they have paid up the arrears for February, and have regularly paid the men ever since, which has had a bouedical influence on the spirit of the men. On the above accounts $3,247.33 has been collected and $36,549.41 has been paid. The earnings for the year 1874 were $745,063,93. The earnings from Feb. 22 1875, to May 37 were $196,023,47, showing an increase over those of the same portion of the previous year of $35,660.93, which would have been even more had the rates for coal freights been maintained. The expenses have been no greater except when extra trains were run and extra men employed. If the road continues to show as favorable reextra trains were run and extra men employed. If the road continues to show as favorable results in the future as in the immediate past, the back wages to men and the extra amounts needed for repairs can all be met out of the net earnings. The two divisions of the road have been operated together, and no statement can be made of the relative expenses of each, but the rolling stock belongs to the two divisions in the following proportions: Twenty-four locomotives, all the passenger, mail, baggage, and caboose-cars, 38 stock-cars, 185 box and 515 coal-cars to the Illinois division, and 10 locomotives and 225 coal-cars to the Indiana division.

It was found that in February last when the oveter trade was heavy on the Baltimore & Ohio Railthrown down on city ground to facilitate the un-loading of oysters and express goods coming in over that line. Mr. Prindiville called the attenover that line. Mr. Prindville called the attention of Mr. Peters, the Local Superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Bailroad, to this fact, and stated to him that he desired to have the track removed. As Mr. Peters had no authority in the matter, the track having been laid by the Illinois Central Bailroad, from which the Baltimore & Ohio leases its right of way into the city, they called upon Mr. J. C. Clark, the General Manager of that road. Mr. Clark stated that he had no desire to encrosen upon the city property. He did not desire to occupy an inch not belonging to him. If any of the tracks were on city property he would have them removed at once. Mr. Clark thereupon had a survey made, and found that four feet of the tracks were on city property. He engaged a force of men at once and set them to work to push the tracks over on the Company's lands, and before dark the whole work was completed, and the Baltimore & Ohio could enter the city on undisputed ground. The matter was to have been brought before the Common Council Modday evening and a big outery made about "railroad cheei" and monpoly encroachments, but Mr. Clark, with his usual sagacity, has nipped the sensation in the bud, and shown that neither his road nor the Baltimore & Ohio have any desire to obtain possessmon of the lake front by stealth, and that they would not have it unless obtained in a fair and proper way. tion of Mr. Peters, the Local Superin-

At 8 a. m., after invocation by the Rev. Mr. Swift, of Aurora, Moderator Chappell called the meeting to order.

The Committee reported Highland Park is the next place of meeting; the Rev. F. M. Ellis, of Michigan Avenue Church, as the preacher of the annual sermon, with the Rev. had a wash and brush, etc., in the gentleman's room after which I felt as fresh as a lark, and now reth into a comfortable apartment called the emoking-room where I am now—whilst writing this—enjoying m after-dinner cipar. And now my thoughts begin it wander homewards, and think of the things have left behind, and especially do I think and wonder why the "Midland" should have a me nopoly of the art of making reilway traveling a positive luxury. And when I call to mind a very gocent experience I had—along with a number of friends—of a salcon-carriage—and which, by-the-bye, had to be specially arranged for such special accommodation,—not to be had without three days' notice,—I do really wonder whether the Directors of any particular line of railway ever travel on any other except their ewn? Annyhow, I think that if one of these "Pullman cars" could be placed on a siding at Victoria Station, beside one of the ordinary salcon exrisges, the comparison would be such that some good would be sure to come of it. At this point, as you know, much more might be said, but as comparisons, as you also know, are oddons, I am content to leave the rest to your imagination. In this age of advertising and puff, it may not be amiss for me to state that I have no acquaintance with Mr. Pullman or any of his friends, nor have I any interest in the Midland, though he, or they, or you, may make what use of this you like, and the right of translation is not reserved, as it he written

The President had a counsel with the Indians at the Interior Department to-day. The press and all outsiders were excluded. The Indian Commissioner gives the following synopsis of the intervew: The President explained the agreement that had been drawn, relinquishing the Indians' right to hunt in Nebraska, and reserving to them the country north of the Niobrars River, outside of their reservation. All the country north of the North Platte is considered as unceded territory. By this they give portions of this country, and reserve the part where the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail Agencies are located. He said the $25,000 were for presents, and to be given in money. He offered to allow them to name a person to receive the money and buy such things as they wanted, if the person named was a proper person to receive it. He expressed his desire to see them well provided for during his term of office, and asked them again to consider the question of removing to the Indian Territory. Spotted Tail said the Government was asking too much; that a certain portion of the country had never been ceded, and he wanted to know when they were to be paid for that. He alluded to the section which which they still intended to retain. He declined to sign this agreement, and said he would go home to his people and send word back what he would de. He was told the money would lapse into the Treasury on June 30, and he asked if some one here could hold it until they could return to their country and send-word back what his people would do. Mach further conversation followed upon the subject, and the President was firstly compelled to leave, the Indians having decined to sign the agreement.

The President eas appointed the following posterasters: Thomas Saylor, East Saginsw, Mich.; David Day, St. Paul, Minn.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The Rev. Mr. Brayman, Sunday-school Secretary, reported considerable increase in Sunday-school work both in members and interest, and hoped that next year more would be done, and agreater interest taken in strengthening weak Sunday-schools.

The Committee on Sunday-schools reported congratulating the Association on the general increase of interest in Sunday-school work during the year, but deploring that more had not been done. They recommended a more systematic course of labor, to be attained by the formation of Sunday-school institutes thioughout the Association.

After remarks by the Rev. Mr. Thearle, and Messrs. Wilsinson, Clisold, and others, the report was adopted, and the Chair appointed the three gentlemen named a Committee to appoint places and time for the holding their institutes.

HOME MISSIONS.

The Committee on Home Missions reported an increase of 200 members since the last meeting of the Association, and recommend differentially of the Association, and recommend destrong churches in their vicinity.

After a discussion, participated in by the Revs. W. W. Evetts, Jr., O. W. Van Arsdafe, D. T. Richards, and others, the following resolution was adopted:

Richards, and others, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the report of the Missionary Committee be referred back, with the request that they report as to the practicability of employing an limerant missionary within the bounds of the Association.

The Committee then resigned, and a new one was appointed, consisting of the Roya, Kermett, Thearle, and Mr. Graves.

After invocation by the Rev. Mr. Swift, of Aurora, the centennial sermon was preached by the Rev. T. J. Morgan, D. D., of Chicago University.

Aurora, the centennial sermon was presched by the Rev. T. J. Morgan, D. D., of Chicago University.

The Association took recess until 1:30 p. m. The Association met pursuant to adjournment. After the singing of a verse of "Rock of Ages," the Rev. Mr. Hobart, of Downer's Grove, led the meeting in prayer.

of Aurora, made an address on "Woman's Work in Missions." She alinded to the nobleness of character displayed by those who sacrificed all to go and carry missionary enterprise into foreign lands, and gave a sketch of the early life of the missionary movement. Of late it had become apparent that woman was not so enthusiastic in her support of the movement as as first. A reaction hence took place, and the feeling that the work should be renewed with vigor gained ground among women. The women took hold of the work, and met with the demand, and they deserved the interest and co-operation of the pastors of the churches, who should give their hearts and hands in support of the work. Woman's work in missions was developing a great moral and spiritual power. The Western Woman's Missionary Society was daily increasing its scope of labors, and at present had nearly 600 circles in different parts of the West.

The following resolution, offered by Mrs. Hearle, was after a short debate unanimously adopted:

Esselved, That the Woman's Missionary Society of the West is worthy of, and cupit to have, the earnest sympathy and active co-operation of the pastors and anurches.

On motion, it was recolved that the statistics of the different circles of the Western Woman's Missionary Society be procured from the Society and Included in the minutes of the precent meeting.

The Chair appointed as an Auditing Committennia.

Missionary Society be procured from the Society and included in the minutes of the present meeting.

The Chair appointed as an Auditing Committee, Measrs. Sheppard and Graves, to audit the accounts of the Treasurer.

THE MISSIONARY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Thearle, on behalf of the Missionary Committee, reported as follows:

Your Missionary Committee, to whom was referred the question of the practicability of the support of an illinerant missionary to labor in the bounds of the Association, beg to report that while they believe that the sustaining of a good, judicious man to labor amongst and counsel with the weak churches would be the resident means to their restoration, and would labor, with this end in view, they are not prepared, without further consultation, to recommend such an appointment, but advise that the Rev. I. N. Holiart be added this Committee, and be requested to give as much of this time as possible to the work within the bounds of the Association; and that the Association secure the labors of Mr. A. R. Newton, the missionary of the Publication Society, to the same end, for such time as he can spare it. Also that we solidit the hearty or operation of pastors adjacent to these needy fields with these brethren in their labors; and if it is eventually desired advisable to place in the field a sero-tailon, with the General Association, they will use their best efforts to obtain from their several churches their due proportion of the expense.

We further request the authority of the Association to confer with the Beptist Union as to the ability and willingness of fhast body to do the missionary work of this Association, with powers to transfer the same to them, if they, will assume it.

A lively debate occurred on the report, the final clause in relation to the Baptist Union being met with some distavor, and the report was recommitted for amendment.

Dr. Boone offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk be directed to have no more conjets of the minutes printed than there i were $189.22, and the ex

cial difficulties.

The Committee on Miscellaneous Business rereported, recommending that the letters from the churches be written as concisely as possible, not isiling, however, to put in all incidents of importance and interest.

morizating, however, to put in an inclosure of imporizace and interest.

YET AGAIN.

The Committee on Missionary offered the following as their amended report, which was adopted:

Tour Missionary Committee, to whom was referred the question of the practicability of the support of an interest make the committee to instructed to inquire particularly into the destitution within the limits of the Association, and embody the result of their inquiry in a report to the Board of the Baptist General Association, axing the Board to co-operate with them in providing for such destitution; that they further ask the addition of the Bey. J. N. Hohart and the Bey. F. L. Chappell to this Committee; and that they committed the hearty interest manifested by pastors in destitute fields adjacent to them, and carnesily ask an extension of this labor.

destitute fields adjacent to them, and sarresily ask an extension of this labor.

The Committee on the Condition of Temple Church in its relations with the Association reported as follows:

Your Committee have not been able to ascertain the precise temper and feeling of the main body of the church on the subject of a separation from our ecclesiastical fellowship. They would, therefore, recommend a kind and Christian course of processure with them, hoping that time and reflection will head any allension of feeling which may have existed, and that no final action be taken in the case at this session, but that we wait the development of another year.

After prayer by the Rev. Mr. Corwin, the Association took recess until 7:30.

THE EVENING EXERCISES

consisted of a half-hour prayer-meeting, and a number of interesting addresses on centennial education work among the Baptists, almong the speakers being the Revs. F. M. Edia, A. J. Freet, and L. Moss, D. D.

At 9:30 o'clock the Association adjourned until this morning, when the programme of exercises will Be as follows: 7 to 8, prayer-meeting; 8 to 10, Foreign Missions and Home Missions; 10 to 11, Bible and Publication Society; 11:00, Miscellancous Business; 12:00, adjournmens.

The first annual commencement of the State Normal School in Oakrosh will take place on Wednesday, June 17. A class of eight students will complete the four years' course, and twelve will finish the shorter course of two years.

The LaCrosse Democral states that Gen. Van Steenwyk ex-Mayor.esz-Bank Comptroller, and for many years President of the Batavian Bank of that city, was married a week or two since in Geneva, Switzerland to a young lady formenly of Madison, but now of Chicago, who is traveling in Europe with relations.

A man named Michael Hartean was knocked down and robbed of $500 in Green Bay on last Priday night. He had been to Chicago, and returned that day and put up at the Adams House. He was walking on the street about 10 o'clock when two men sprang upon him and one of them struck him with a club on the left temple. They then searched his pockets and took his money. He was seriously injured, but will recover. The robbers escaped.

W. A. Croffut, formerly of Chicago, was the Decoration Day orator at Minneapolis. His speech is printed in the Mail.

The friends of Dr. Enickerbocker, of Minneapolis, who just missed the election to the Iowa Bisbopric, are exceedingly sore over his defeat.

The LeSueur plan of giving a bounty for dead gra shoppers appears to be a success. Mr. Creen writes that on Saturday the school boys gathered over nineteen bushels, estimated to number over 6,000,000.

A prize-fight between men upwards of 70 years of age was the sensation at Cha-ka last week. Julius Casar Wagner and Fiederick were the contestants. Three rounds were fought, and Julius Casar declared the winner.

A juvenile temple has been organized in East Rechester. It is an organization for children from 5 to 16 years of age, intended to form habits of usefulness for future life and to pro-mote abstimence from the use of liquors and to-bacco, and the avoidance of profane language.

bacco, and the avoidance of profane language.

The Alexandria Post gives the particulars of a hand-to-hand fight between Mr. En Archer and a black bear, at Lake Mary, in which Mr. Archer came out second best. Mr. Archer had fired two bullets into bruin, when they came to close quariers. The contest was a abort one, when Mr. Archer precipitately retreated. He received some very severe injuries, one of his hands being badly iscerated, and a gash an inch long out through his upper lip, besides his clothes being nearly all torn off. He would undoubtedly have been killed but for his dog. Several of his neighbors went out next morning and found the bear bad died during the night from the effects of the shot he received from Archer's gun.

Omaha has had hall-atones the size of hens' sign, and plenty of them.

The total liabilities of the State of Nebraska, as shown by the report of the Constitutional Convention, now in session at the State Capital, amount to $592,450.87.

Some scheme of advertising the western part of the State is being considered. It is proposed that each county shall have its own advertising oursal.

North Platte is haunted by a female somnam-bulist who enters the bedrooms of young men at the witching hour of midnight in her night-dress, and sits on the ragged edge of their bed-steads in blissful agnorance of her indelicate po-sition.

Mr. E. D. Pratt, who resides on the premises formerly known as the Chaplin farm, just north of Omahs, has planted 45 acres of orchard this spring. He set out about 4,000 fruit trees, and the loss so far has been only about one-half of 1 per cent.

Old fire-places, fliot-chippings, arrow-heads, fine specimens of ancient pottery, and other relice of the mound-builders, have been unearthed.

"Teras Bill" came to Caldwell last week and got on a bender, and was flodrishing his pistol around and telling what he could do. He undertook to tide on the sidewalk in front of the Haines Hotel, but Mrs. Haines forbid him doing so. He then dismounted, and Mrs. Haines, who has more pluck than the average of men, disarmed num and had him tied and put in a vacant building, where he took a good sleep.

Squatters in Beno County, Kan., recently assembled to the number of forty and forced a Mr. Pierce, of Hutchinson, to relinquish his "filing" and remove his building from a claim upon which he had pounced as soon as another man had relinquished it in the process of exchanging claims with a neighbor. If a little such conservative violence had been tried in time upon the new County-Bond Ring in that neighborhood, the result would have been wholesoms.

It is not the Republic, but the Caucus, which Mr. Gamaliel Bradford despairs of. All things considered, the Caucus is a tolerably vigorous and flourishing shoot. It has made its way into Episcopal conventions, and trumphed there. We fear it will not be staggered by Mr. Gamaliel Bradford's despair.

finances are bound to work the disruption of the Democratic party in Connecticut. The Catholic politicians, it is alleged, are particularly arrogant and oppressive, and are fast srousing a spirit of defiance among American-born Democrats.

It is suggestive, at least, to notice in the same issue of the Indianapolus Journal, which reiterates the third-term charge against Gen. Grant, that the recent address of Senator Morton at Greencastle Ind., "was second to none in richness of thought, aptness of illustration, and cogency of argument." The speech was a common sort of Decoration-Day affair.

mon sort of Decoration-Day affair.

The Boston Advertiser talks sound sense when it says that the Independent voter is more strongly inclined to the Benublican than to the Democratic side. The Independent voter is in fact a part of the Republican party—a sort of return ball, such as the children play with, which goes the full length of an elastic cord, but comes back safely into the hand.

It is quite a confession for the New York Tribune to say that the action of the Republican Convention in Pennsylvania has been disap-

Convention in Pennsylvania has been disappointing to the Democrats. The platform was just t. o good for anything in the way of criticism, with the exception of the equalization-of-bounties and the protective tariff resolutions; and these were fairly taken out of the Democratic mouth.

There does not seem to be any particular reason why the Washington Republican should be called the White House organ. Its double-leaded predictions are seldom verified. Its babblings on both sides of the third-term question blings on both sides of the third-term quession are perfectly insensate. The only reason why the Opposition newspapers choose to consider it an official organ is, that its utterances are so often open to ridicule and contempt.

CHERENT OPINION

The total contributions of Chicago to the reief of the sufferers by the late fire at Oshkosh foots up the liberal sum of $14,447. This, we believe, is the largest donation from any source, and shows that Chicago, was entitled to the generous aid so, lavishly bestowed in the time of her great calamity.—Madison Democrat.

Because THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the other day, Because THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the other day, with commendable enterprise, published the inside of Allen's Cook County National Bank, the Journal, of that city, is out of humor, and calls it "meak-thief journalism." How much of the public money on "deposit with Allen have you borrowed?—Springhed Register.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has a long and very interesting article entitled "Allen's Luck." It is the stream of a marriagent forward form.

s the story of a magnificent financial fraud, who was for seven years a ruined bankrupt, and yet who, up to the very date of his collarse, was looked upon as one of the wealthiest men in the Northwest, and whose fall was as absolute as his prosperity was apparently secure. - Davenpor Democrat.

We have never been able to regard with any great satisfaction the ceremonials of Decoration-Day, and have considered the making of the day a legal holiday a supreme act of folly on the part of the Legis ature. Lacking nothing in reverence for the dead or the cause for which they died, the strewing of the graves with flowers has nevertheless appeared to us a rather poor and aumanly way of showing it.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

We have authority to say that all the stories now current about Sanator, Jones of Navada.

We have authority to say that all the stories now current about Senator Jones, of Nevada, and his losses in Pennsylvania Central, Panama, and other railroad stocks, are wholly without foundation. Mr. Jones has been a large stockholder in Panama ever since 1858, and, bought into it only because he thought it an investment which would pay satisfactory dividends.—New Orieans Times.

The question of an independent resumption of specie payments in New York, whether the Government adheres to its pledge or not, is again under discussion in that State. There is some doubt whether the act passed by the Legislature looking to that change will stand the test of the courts, but there is no doubt whatever that it is entirally possible for the merchants of New York to force resumption so far as their own business is concerned, and that the rest of the country could not long hold out against the united capital of that city and State,—Boston Advertiser.

Rankin has come to the rescue of himself in the matter of his administration of the affairs of the new Chicago Custom-House; and, judging from the way he states his case, he never had a better friend. Rankin declares that Rankin was an upright, honest, efficient architect, and as such the Chicago Custom-House is a thing of beauty as wall as a jaw forever. We quite believe him, and we are almost personaded at the same time to believe that Bristow and the other musing and prying chaps who have interfered with him are the villains in the case. However, we will give them the benefit of a doubt, and let them have a chance to vindicate themselves if they can.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

The Chicago Tribune.

Thursday Morning, June 3, 1875.

A graphic description is given in our dis-satches of the ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the new Masonic Temple in New York City, the largest and most mag-nificent building of the kind in America, and obably second to none in the world. The street parade was extremely gorgeous and imposing, and it is worthy of note that among the visiting bodies the finest display vas mada by a Western organization, the Deroit Commandery.

The Minnesota Opposition, known as Lib erals and Democrats, have concluded to try their fortunes once more in the political arena. To this end they have decided to call a State Convention, which body will meet at St. Paul on the 7th of July. They are not hanted with the poli yet enchanted with the political outlook, ough the road to success is likely to be ficiently long and tedious to fulfill the con-ions required by the popular phrase in re-red to objects at a distance.

Reports from the South concerning the condition of the cotton crop have now an interest and significance which they have hith erto failed to possess. The general tenor of the reports published this morning shows that labor, both white and black, is plenty and ore efficient this season than it h been for many years, which argues a good of feeling between the employer and oyed. The use of commercial fertilizers en resorted to more the present ser than over before, and planters are slowly abituating themselves to the application of lomestic manures,—a practice which is quite

A correspondent of THE TRIBUNE & few days since recalled some reminiscences of Mr. Besron, who was for many years connected with a Washington banking-house, and who one day shot himself because he had an impression that his books, if exam-ined, would not tally. The business world owever. It is no longer afflicted with any pangs of conscience from any impression that books won't tally. The absolute knowl edge of it is an every-day fact, and yet the edge of it is an every-day fact, and yet the Coroner's business is not enhanced by this knowledge. The unfortunate victim alluded to was born half a century too soon. The science of financial irregularity and the arts of the ring were not then known.

Were not the Baptist brethren in the For River Association yesterday a little rapid, not to say rabid, on the temperance question? First, their Committee, to whom was relegated the duty of preparing a declaration on the subject, reported indorsing the present Liquor law of Illinois; whereupon there was debate, and the report was unanimously cted, even those who presented it joining he general dislike of their work. Ther the Association, with perfect unanimity, went on record in favor of total prohibition. It might be expected that the preference for water would be carried a great way by the Association, but not, we think, to such an extreme limit was even the National Terperance Convention refused to indorse.

The National Temperance Convention had a rather noisy session yesterday, the uproar and confusion which prevailed a large portion of the time suggesting to an unprejudiced observer the reflection that temperateness and moderation are desirable in a deliberative body not less than in respect of the kind of liquids which people shall imbibe. The Convention is anything but united and harmonious upon various planks in the temperance platform, there being a wide variance of views concerning the subject of prohibition, the discontinuance of alcoholic wine for sacramental purposes, and the absolute and irrevocable banishment of liquors from the sick-room, "even though the patient should die in consequence," as one of the delegates remarked. As to the prohibition question, the majority n the Convention, sensibly concluding that the time is not ripe for the organization of a Third Party committed to the policy

The Republican State Convention in Ohio yesterday nominated for Governor Gen. RUTHERFORD B. HAYES. Gen. HAYES was, before the War, a practicing attorney in Cincinnati, and was elected City Solicitor. He entered the army as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Twenty-third Ohio, and subsequently the Twenty-third Ohio, and subsequently The Republican State Convention in Ohio was made Colonel. He served in the Shenandoah Valley under Sheridan, and was promoted to the command of a brigade and made a brilliant record. After the War, he was twice elected to Congress from Cincin-nati. He was then elected, for two successive terms, Governor of Ohio. He is a man of ability, a fine speaker, with a high personal character, and has an an unblemished official record. He is a man of liberal views, and has no sympathy with fraud or corruption in any form. Gen. Harrs was not a candidate for the nomination, but earnestly supported Judge Tarr. While a Judge in the Superior Court in Cincinnati, Judge Tarr delivered a dissenting opinion in a decision com-manding the Board of Education to restore the manding the Board of Education to restore the Bible as å text-book in the public schools. Subsequently, the Supreme Court of Ohio overruled this decision, and unanimously sustained Judge Tarr's opinion as to the law of Ohio on that subject. He was regarded, however, as an unquestionable friend of the public-school system, but his opinion on the other question caused an opposition to him in certain parts of Ohio. Jude Tapy would in certain parts of Ohio. Jude TAPT would have obtained many thousands of votes beyond the ordinary party strength, but it was considered best to have a candidate against whom there was neither personal, political, or religious objection within the party. So Judge TAPT withdrew his name, and Gen. HAYES was nominated by acclamation. The canvass in Ohio promises to be one of uncontractions of the canvass of the second se usual warmth and vigor. The State is to be hotly contested until election day, and per-haps no one is better suited for such a cam-

COLLECTING THE REVENUE. Mr. Wadsworth, Collector of the Internal Revenue for this collection district, has re-fused to resign his office at the request of the Government, preferred through the Commis-sioner of Internal Revenue. This refusal is placed upon the ground that Mr. Wans-WORTH's character is of value to him, that a request to resign implies something dis-creditable, and that before he resigns there shall be distinct and specific charges made against him, and that he shall be heard in deense. This, the office-holder's general protest upon leaving office, is thus formulated by an organ of the policy of not hurting the

by an organ of the policy of not hurting the party by prosecuting revenue thieves:

The request for his resignation is a bold demand upon an officer, only recently appointed, to surrender his office on the ground that the good of the service requires that he should be disgraced. Now, we hold that the Treasury Department may go to great lengths to bring about the detection of past frauds, and to accure a faithful collection of the revenues fit the future, and we will sustain Secretary Hursrow in every measure looking solely to that end. But neither the Secretary nor the Precident has the moral right to sacrifice the reputation of the humblest indictional to Secretary nor the President has the moral right to sacrifice the reputation of the humblest individual in the land to what is commonly called the exigencies of the public service. The office-holder is also a citizen, entitled to all the rights of citizenship; and one of these rights it that his character shall not be unjustly aspersed. If Mr. Wansworm has been guilty of compiletts with the regress of the Whater Eine let the aspecied. If Mr. Warsworth has been guilty of complicity with the rogues of the Whisky Ring, let the charge be boldly made and sustained. Otherwise, let him not be driven from office under the seeming shadow of a suspiction which has no basis of fact, and which is too cowardly to frame itself in words. While no American citizen holds office by divine right, every citizen may hold office; and no right exists anywhere in any official to subject another official to public suspiction of dishomorable practices by turning him out of office without a hearing.

This bold affirmation of treating the Civil Service as an institution in which the politics of the incumbent should have no bearing upon the tenure of office, is hardly in keeping with the almost general repudiation of Civil-Service Reform by all the rigid "party" men, from Ber Buttler down to the lowest men, from BEN BUTLER down to the lowes carpet-bagger. The efforts of the President to substitute official merit for mere political protection as a qualification for office, have practically been rejected by the Republican party, and by none more vehemently than the Republican Senators and Representatives in Congress from Illinois. To plead at this day and in this generation that a removal from office implies such a degradation or disgrace of the person removed that the officer is justified in demanding an official trial upon specific charges of official misconduct, is too stale to merit public respect. We concede all that has been or may be claimed for Mr. Wadsworth officially or personally, but that does not alter the case. The Government at Washington have engaged in a struggle with a wealthy, numerous, and influential gang of conspirators, whose opera-tions are extended all over the country, and which includes in its distributions of spoils which includes in its distributions of spoils hundreds of persons holding office in all the various branches of the public service. Not only has the Government to deal with the whisky men direct, but has the more difficult task to encounter the stipendiaries of the revenue robbers, who hold places of trust task to encounter the stipendiaries of the revenue robbers, who hold places of trust and power. Under these circumstances, the resignation of Mr. Wansworm was saked because of the "exigencies of the public service." There is no necessary implication in such a request that there has been any criminal conduct on his part.

Let us, for instance, imagine an office of Collector of Internal Revenue located, not in Chicago, but in the State of Mains, where, among many other instances of like charsicer, there is the record of a transaction like this. On a day, say Jan. 1, stamps for 100 barrels of whisky were sold, the stamps being numbered consecutively from 901 to 1,000 inclusives. In due time there is a return by the Gauger and Inspector that they had respectively gauged and marked 100 barrels of whisky which they had seen dumped, and that its stamps thereon, numbered 901 to 1,000 inclusive, had been day canceled Suppose that, in thirty days therestrier, the same offices should make returns of the ganging, inspection, etc., 100 other barrels of whisky bearing stamps 501 to 1,000 inclusives, and that was opinion would be in a condition to loseen the boats and ship them so they would flost. They would have the life-preservers at hand to deal out to the frightened passengers, and ten lives would be saved where one is saved to justify such an exposure and condemn the reposure, and the lives would have the life-preservers at hand to deal out to the frightened passengers, and ten lives would be interested to justify such an exposure and condemn the reposure, and ten lives would be saved where one is saved to flow, the responsible position in such a request that there has been any clinical condemning their exposure of the state of Mains, the preserver and condemning the responsible position for the lack of these simple and easily advantage of whisky which they had seen dumped, and that the stamps thereon, numbered 901 to 1,000 inclusively, and that, in thirty days therestrier, the same offices should be a supplied to the s defiant fraud as this, and repeat it within a few weeks in the same office.

Here is a case, and we use it merely for illustration, where there was such a loose administration that the official and unofficial conspisators did not hesitate to put in their false and forged returns, not once, but twice, and actually had recorded on the Collector's own books that a given number of stamps bed, here times, and yet the of and unknown. Suppose the President, Secretary of the Suppose the Fresident, Secretary of the Treasury, and Commissioner of Internal Revenue, upon a knowledge of this and other similar facts, should suggest to that Collector down in Maine that the exigencies of the publice service required his resignation, would any intelligent business man in the country not interested or concerned in the mere spoils of office think the request for a resignation either strange, unjust, or oppressive? Sup-pose any bank in Chicago should get the reputation of being so loosely, carelessly, and recklessly managed that it was an easy place in which to get rid of counterfeit money, pass forged checks and raised bills of exchange, and commit other frauds, and that such reputation was sustained by the actual success of such operations, how long would it be before the Directors would ask the Cashier and his subordinates to step down and out?

The Government proposes to prosecute the persons guilty of crime to conviction and unishment, and naturally, in such case, punishment, and naturally, in such case, wants its own official force composed of men wholly disconnected with the Whisky Ring, whether by personal, official, or political ties, and is justified in taking whatever steps may be necessary for that purpose. In this struggle with crime, the Executive can permit no interference from without. A few years ago a Commission appointed by the President made a report upon certain evils of the Civil Service, and among other things

While, therefore, the appointing power is chiefly and properly vested in the Executive Department, because that department is responsible for executive administration, yet the practice that has arisen under the evil theory of the Civil Service tends to make the President and Scretaries merely the appointment clerks of Congress, from which body the Constitution carefully withholds the appointing power. . . Thus it is not denied that the chief national appointments in the several States are now really not made by the President and Senate, but at the pleasure of the Senators from the States in which the office is to be filled. The President may have sersonal knowledge of the unitfrom the States in which the office is to be filled. The President may have personal knowledge of the unfit-ness of certain persons whose appointment is sought, but, if the Senators from the State are in favor of those persons, the President must yield his knowledge to their pleasure, or the offices must remain unfilled. While it is true that in the matter of appointments, the President, under our vicious Civil-Service system, must yield to the pleasure of Senators, it becomes a very different question when the point at issue is the prose-cution of criminals and the purification of the revenue force by the dism ssal of every man through whose neglect, inefficiency, in-attention, connivance, or active participation, trated during a long time. In such a case,— that is, in the execution of the laws,—there can be tolerated no Senatorial interference or demand; and, in case it be attempted, there will be no hesitation among the people in sustaining the President, no matter what such crimes have been successfully perpetrated during a long time. In such a case,—

FRAUDS AND THEIR EXPOSURE.

A few days since The Tribune had occasion to print some startling revelations concerning the career of a gentleman who had occupied a prominent position in the social and financial circles of the Northwest. The revelations were unique; they caree in the second in time of accident as is the impulse to rush up is as strong on shipboard in time of accident as is the impulse to rush up is as strong on shipboard in time of accident as is the impulse to rush out of a theatre or church in time of fire. No one pauses for anything, and last of all for a life-preserver.

The life-preserver is not thought of a second in the second in t form of confessions. The publication was entirely legitimate, and it needs no apology.

The confessions were put on paper by the gentleman who made them for purposes of his own; they came into the possession of The Tribune in a fair and regular manner; begins to appreciate the small chance of election. The hold is probably full of water, and no one dares to return to grope about in dark and narrow passages in the rising water in search of a life-preserver; and thus, with THE TRIBUNE in a fair and regular manner; in search of a life-preserver; and thus, with they were printed with good motives. It was an exposure of reprehensible practices, which hundred souls or more are lost. were in controvention of commercial morality and in violation of law. It was not for The Transure to inquire who was likely to be implicated in such an exposure, but simply to be sure of its facts. It then became the duty of The Tribune to publish these facts for various reasons that should be obvious to every right-minded person,—to exhibit the thirty to forty persons. The first movement transactions in their real light, to show of the sailors, for whom no life that commercial integrity cannot be evaded with impunity, to warn other boats. If each one of the boats contained men of the danger of similar practices, to hold them up to public scorn that they may be corrected, to place the responsibility where it qualification of such a revenue officer? This case we have given is perhaps an extreme one, though it has actually occurred, and it serves to show that the whisky men were thoroughly posted agto the character of the administration of that Collector's office. In the case we have instanced, there was a necessity, of course, to bribe the Gauger and Inspector to make these false returns on oath; and both Gauger, and Inspector, and distillers, and rectifiers must have had a thorough measure of the inefficiency, official neglect, or indifference and general weakness of the whole revenue force of the district, when they would dare attempt such a bold and almost defiant fraud as this, and repeat it within a few weeks in the same office.

Here is a case, and we use it merely for conspisators did not hesitate to put in their false and forged returns, not once, but twice, and actually had recorded on the Collectors own books that a given number of stamps had been canceled three times, and yet the Collector and his subordinates were as ignorant of the fraud, and as ignorant of having ever adopted any measure to detect such frauds, as if they lived in a land where frauds upon the revenue were unheard of and unknown.

Suppose the President, Secretary of the commerce into monopoly, morality centiousness, virtue into vice. When ical party is prostituted to the purposes of private gain, great corporations used to op-press the public, large banking institutions made the vehicle of swindling depositors, so-cieties throwing a mantel over libertines, or the Church protecting hypocrites, no senti-ment is so threatening as to advocate a sup-pression of the truth or to denounce the exposure of the trath or to denotince the exposure of the abuses. It is this sentiment that, to-day, is more menacing than any other to the commercial honesty, social power, and political integrity, on which alone a Republic may hope to stand. It is moral obligation that we have a sentiment of the sentiment of th pulne may hope to stand. It is inorated ab-liquity that we must guard against, and to ad-vocate "a policy of silence" is to encourage it rather than save ourselves from drifting into it. And of all men, journalists and cler-gymen should be the last to adopt a theory so cherons and fatal.

LIFE-PRESERVERS AT SEA. Every person who starts upon an ocean voyage may set out with the conviction that life-preservers, under the present system of using them, are utterly useless. The reason of this is plain enough to everybody who has been at sea. Disasters occur at night, or in a dense fog, or a towering storm,—very rarely in the light of day. There is usually no warning. The ship strikes the rock, or comes in collision with another vessel or an iceberg, and the shock is like that of an earthquake or an explosion,—sudden, unexpected, and ter-rifying. The result is a panic. The selfishness of human nature is developed in all its intensity; the instinct of self-preservation asserts itself over every idea of duty. Mer lose their heads and women their hearts, and there is a rush and scramble without thought or reason. The sailors are the first at the life-boats. They frequently dump them over wrong end first, and two or three boats are lost before one is fairly afloat. Two or three more are usually afloat. Two or three more are usually swamped by overcrowding. The sailors get off with one; and the great majority of the pasengers are left to the untender mercies of a sinking ship in surrounding darkness, divested of every life-saving apparatus with which the vessel was provided, and without courage or experience. This is a fair picture of the scene.

Now where have the life-preservers been all this time? Swinging quietly from their fastenings over the bunks below, unthought of until they were beyond the reach of the unfortunates who had left them behind. This is the reason why life-preservers are sustaining the President, no matter what may become of the Senatorial champions or apologists for revenue frauds. begins to appreciate the small chance of es-cape by boats. It is then too late to seek the cabin. The hold is probably full of water,

The remedy for this is clearly a change of corrected, to place the responsibility where it really belongs, etc. It is unnecessary to catalogue the reasons why fraud should be exposed, corrupt practices denounced, and those guilty of them held publicly to account. A proper sentiment of honor needs no prompting in this regard.

The certainly astonishing, then, that the exposure to which we refer should have elicited unfavorable criticism in some quarters. The majority of men, anxious for the passengers on board; and we believe the simple change we have suggested will sup-ply the present deficiency. Let the life-pre-servers be of the best, let there be an ample upply of them, and let them be placed in the life-boats where they will be at hand when they are wanted.

The people of Chicago and Illinois may take a justifiable pride in the success attained by Mr. ELMER WASHBURN as Chief of the by Mr. ELMER WASHDURN as Chief of the Government Secret Service. Before Mr. WASHBURN was called to that position, this branch of the public service had deteriorated into a worthless, if not a corrupt, system of office-holding. It was strongly imbued with sloth and indifference to the public welfare, if nothing worse. It was the spy system, with if nothing worse. It was the spy system, with no appreciable benefit outside of the spies themselves or the people whom they apprehended and permitted to escape. Mr. Wasn-sun revolutionized the character of the Secret Service immediately. His long experience in dealing with the criminal classes, his quiet and unostentatious manner, his great personal industry, and his unimpeachable integrity, have already given the service a dignity and brought to it a usefulness which would never have been suspected of it before. He has received honorable mention for the part he has acted in running down the whisky frauds; but, while his worken this respect has been thorough,—as thorough as it was in breaking up gambling in Chicago while he was Chief of Police,—he has not neglected the other demands upon him. There have never been so many counterfeiters apprehended and arrestmany counterfeiters apprehended and arrest ed in so short a time as Mr. Washburn has found since he has been in office. His cor duct and ability merit the highest praise, and will earn for him a national reputat

The Anti-Slavery Society of England have again urged upon the British Government the duty of friendly interference between Spain and Cuba to bring to an end the long and bloody strife between the Spaniards and Cuban patriots and secure the abolition of the slave traffic. Lord DERBY, speaking for the Government, expressed the opinion that the time had not come for intervention. and, among other reasons for this said that any such attempt would be received said that any such attempt would be received with considerable suspicion by the American Government and people. We believe Lord Denex is very much mistaken in this matter, and cannot conceive on what grounds he has formed such an opinion. While the American Government has no disposition to annex Cubs, it has no apprehension that Great Britain will ever undertake it. On the contrary, there is reason to think that an offer of friendly offices by Great Britain in the interest of peace, and independence, and the emancipation of the slaves in the Island of Cuba, would be strongly seconded by the American Government and received with joy throughout this country.

The best means of preventing bank-burglarie the best means of preventing bank-burgaries has long been a subject of study, and is not yet definitely ascertained. It does seem to be settled, however, that attention should be turned rather to the safety of the bank-officers themrather to the safety of the bank-officers themselves from intimidation and violence than to extra appliances in the bank-uanits. This observation applies especially to sparsely-settled districts in the country and to country towns.

If a single hank-officer in the country has access to the treasure-box at all hours of the day and night, he is completely at the mercy of any well-organized band of burglars which shall attack and capture him at night. The remedy for this state of affairs is to deprive every officer of the bank individually of the power to open the vanit. This may be done in various ways. The key may be in pieces, of the vault at any time during the night. This invention served a most useful purpose at Great Barrington, Mass., last week. The Cashier of the Mohaiwe National Bank of that place was taken from his bed at the middle of the night, conveyed to the bank, and ordered to open the vaunt. But he was powerless as the burglars themselves; and, having satisfied them of the truth by calling attention to the tickings of the chronometer within the vault, the Cashier had the patisfaction of seeing them depart with only the valuables kept in his own house. The chro-nometer-lock had been put on the vault-door only a few days before the attempted robbery.

ROBERT MILES, of Cincinnati, like Palinumu of old, was too trustful of the weather when he or onl, was too frustrio of the weather woen he started out upon his travels with "America's Great Racing Association and Congress of Nations," and, like the same person, has gone overboard only to be stranded. It was a bad time, six weeks ago, to take the field against Barnun, but he took it, and trouble began. The thermometer hovered about the twenties with unexampled pertinacity; it rained four days in the week when it did not snow; Barnun arose from his municipal chair with a club, and the gentlemanly actors of Mr. Milles' Cincinnati theatre got drunk and insulted their sudiences. And now Mr. Milles returns to Cincinnati. His elephants accompany him, but they are attached to nim no longer, for the Sheriff claims them under an attachment. The Roman chariot is a dead weight, and all the racing that the steeds and their riders are doing is included in a general walking-match from Albany to Cincunnati. Though "Old Probabilities" has made no minute of the fact, the month of June will doubtless furnish an unusual number of saints to the orthodox rest by that short and certain route, the scaffold. June 23, the Canadians, Sparman and Greaves, of Brockville, will expirate the crime of abortion. June 26, an extraordinary crop of murderers will be transformed into angels: Philip Shapes, of Salt Lake City, and Gondon and Wagner, of Thomsstown, Me. As an off-set to these, Mesers. John John and Matthews Konelle, two Canadian murderers, have had their sentences communed, and Connelles Dreen, who should have accompanied the June delegation, will head that of July. Of this list, four can be telled on, for in Canada the popular mind has not been properly educated up to that sublime worship of blood-stained felons as in this more fortunate country. It is impossible to foretell when anarchy in the South will cease, so long as the minions of a brutal and despotic Central Government are in this manner upheld by a besetted soldiery in their bloodthirsty assaults upon the native population.

for Tilton, but he could not invent them for this woman. The slieged confession betrayed

No consciousness of sin or guilt on the part of the woman whose eyes fashed fire when, they looked upon Victoria Woodhull. So improbable was all this alieged conversation that it was not to be regarded for a moment when a witness like Beecher declared that nothing like it was ever brought to his ears. After a calm and deliberate introduction, according to Tilton, his wife told him that the secret she had referred to was one between her and Henry Ward Beecher, her pater. Well, she was careful that there should be no mistake about the person, when the gave him his full name, his title, and his office. She did not want her husband to infer that she had committed adultery with the man in the moon. She went on, according to Tilton, to give a special and deliberate account of her re a ions with Beecher from the beginning. Was this the way in which an agonized wife, impelled by stings of conscience, would confess her guilt to an injured husband? Would she not have done it with sobs and tears, with disheveled hair, and with face buried in the pillows? Mrs. Tilton explained that her first act of adultery with Beecher was the result of her grief for the usath of Paul, who, she was

PARTICULAR TO SAY, WAS HER SON.
Such am act being the natural consequence of the state of a mother's mind after her child's death, there was no need to argue about this. [Laugnter.] Mrs. Tilton said that act was next repeated at her own house, and, as most people was at No. 174 Living tone street. [Great laughter.] She also said that the act was committed at other places, but, strange to say, these other places did not appear to have been specified by her particularly, or to have been specified by her particularly or to have been found out by others. fied by her particularly, or to have been found out by others.

Everts then spoke of the uncertainty expressed by Mrs. Thiton as to the criminality of c mintting sonitery with Beecher, and said that if such was the state of mind of the woman obfessed by her husband to be pure-minded,—a woman 35 years of age and the mother of six children,—we must ask maidens at the altar their opinion on the propriety of such acts, in order to avoid any difference of opinion between them and their husbands. [Laughter.]

Evarts then referred to Mrs. Thiton's explanation of the way in which

In a sentence almost as long and involved as those which newspapers accused him of using. Since Mr. Tilton was informed that the crime had been committed, it must have been pleasant for him to have the manner of it thus carefully explained. [Laughter.]

Mr. Evants resumed his address to the jury after the recess. He continued to consider the alloged confession of Mrs. Tilton, as repeated by her husband to Beecher. She said Beecher said he wished to find in her the solace of life and help to his mind which an unhappy marriage had denied him at home. What became, then, of the twenty-five years of additeries from Indianapolis down? It was rather late in life for him to fall in love, and seek this alleviation of his domestic misery for the first time, when he had reached the age of 56, had been the father of nine children, and had been faithful to his wife since they were both 15 years old. The representations on the part of Beecher that adultery with her would not be sinful were not at first believed and yielded to by Mrs. Tilton. She said that for years she STEADFASTLY REFUSIOR HIS COLICITATIONS, and was sometimes forced to resort to even bodily remetance. What was to be thought of the chastity of a woman who calmly confessed to such a course of conduct during a series of years? Yet Tilton thought he had cast the white robe of charity over his wife when he put such language in her mouth. Why or how Mrs. Tilton's confession presented the amonaly of a woman wholly pure in mind, free from all low and degrading impulses, who deliberately yielded herself to the proflicacy of a hypocritical religious teacher. This was the way in which Tilton made adultery easy and pure. This was the varbal protection he gave to those acts which strike at the very heart of the female character.

Mr. Evarts proceeded at this point to describe THE OHIO REPUBLICANS. COLUMNUS, O., June 2.—The Republican State Convention to-day signalized-a wholesome revival in the party. It was the largest Ohio Republican convention held in a decade, and was one of the most clamorous and enthusiastic on record, the delegates, and the many advisers who dame with them, giving the meeting the approximation.

questions touched in the resolutions, and the main interest centred in the selection of candi-dates. The Convention went to work with the prospect of a dead-lock on Governor. A very large majority of the delegates came here en-thusiastic for Gen. Hayes, who was Governor here from 1868 to 1872, defeating Thurman 1867 and Pendleton in 1869.

increased in volume every moment from the time the delegates began to arrive, notwithstanding dispatches from him that he could not accept a nomination gained in a contest with Judge Taft, of Cincinnati, who had allowed the use of his name on the strength of Hayes' having declined. It was evident before the Convention met that Taft's candidacy was the only obstacle to the nomination of Hayes, without a single ballot, still Taft stack, and his friends labored industriously to remove the opposition to him which had arisen on account of his participation in the litigation about the Bible in the public schools of Cincinnati. They circulated a letter from Taft, emphatically declaring opposition to any division of the Public School fund, as it was evident that question was to be recognized in the platform, but nothing could stay the sweep for Hayes. Even the name of old Ben Wade only made a ripple, and attempts to compromise between Hayes and Taft by springing new and popular men scarcely made an impression. When the roll of counties was called for the first ballot it was plain that

HAYES HAD AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY in his favor, that his friends declared he belonged to the people, and that they would not submit to having him kept off the track on a point of honer which the majority could easily bridge over. The popular sentiment could not be resisted. Votes were changed from Taft to Hayes, and finally Hayes was declared the nominee amidst thunders after thunders of applause. The excitement was intended and even the ardent supporters of Taft joined in the enthusiasm for the successful man, Judge Taft's son removed all embarrassment about Hayes accepting, by moving by authority of his father to make the non-insting unamimous.

HAYES ACCEPTED THE NOMINATION

Republicans take pride in the civil and military career of Haves, and regard him as sound on all the principles enumerated in the platform. There is a deep feeling here that the best generalship for the coming campaign has been secured, and all the elements of the Convention have settled down into an enthusiastic and unanimous support of the nomines.

THE PLATFORM.

The main enthusiasm to-day, so far as platform is concerned, was on the plank declaring against any division of the school fund; against any tendecey to a minon of Church and State, and opposing legislation in the interest of any sect. This was looked upon as the main part of the carpenter-work in the platform. There was but one voice on this subject, and when Congressman Danford, in his speech as temporary Président, indicated the policy of the Republicans of Ohio on this point there was great applause, which was renewed when Gov. Noves, the permanent President, alluded to the late Democratic Legislature as having, under the lash of the Catholic priesthood, obeyed its demands. He referred, evidently, to what is known as the Geghan law, which was enacted to give the Catholic clergy 'satitude in the State institutions.

The merest drivel of a low Paris or New York paper written for the vulgar appetite of the lower classes, had nothing so base for worthless as this.

After cross-examination, and on the direct, Mr. Titton was saked WEAT HE MEANT BY HIS WIFE BRING PURE, and all that sort of thing, and he said that he became acquainted with Elizabeth at 10 years pld, and at 16 he was her lover. At 20 she was married to him, and for fifteen years he had held her to his hearl, and worshiped her as his idol. He (Tilton) thought she had committed the offense while in a trance. That was his excuse for his wife's adultery. He also testified that Elizabeth said she was not to be judged by her mother or her husband, but only by God, and that if her offense were sinful God would not have allowed it to be committed. From Indianapolis down Beecher had been the condemner of all the wicked passions and sins, and Mr. Morris could not make out a sufficient condemnar of all the wicked passions and sins, and Mr. Morris could not make out a sufficient condemnarion against this defendant without the invective against the sin of incontinency spoken of by him to young mea.

Commel then proceeded to lay before the jury MR. REXEMBER'S ACCOUNT OF ZEIS HYEAVING.

When Moulton had brought Beecher to his (Moulton's) house, he said Tilton was waiting up-stairs for him. Mr. Bescher said, supposing it was a business interview, that Mr. Moulton had better go up with him, but he (Moulton) replied that he had better see Mr. Tilton alone. That when his (Beecher) went up-stairs Tilton and it was a grand thing to write that letter, but it would be a grander thing not to have written it. What a happy condition, said counsel, that Tilton to done it at all.

greater damage is apprehended. While the river is very high, west of the river is a large bottom protected by a heavy dyke, on which several large manufacturing establishments have been built within the last year or two. The breaking away of the dyke is probable, in which event the damage will be considerable. From Cambridge City, Charlottesville, and other points on the Central Road, damages to crops, culverts, and bridges are reported. On the Peru Road three bridges were washed away between Indianapolis and Noblesville. The express, due here at 4:10 this morning, was, just in the nick of time, halled by a foot-passetyer and brought to a halt before reaching a point where one of the bridges had gone. On the North Division of the I. C. L. Road a bridge at Zionsville was swept away. Few of the roads were reported on time to-day, and much confusion and delay has been occasioned. The most serious accident occurred to a freight train on the Bee-Lime Road. A bridge was washed out near Fortville. 20 miles east, and a train ditched, killing Ed Bowen, fireman, numarried, and Alonzo Rose, engineer, leaving a wife and child. Both were not recovered from the wreck until a late hour. The break in the road interfered with the running of trains, and the morning express returned to the city, finding E impossible to effect a transfer. The surrounding country is inundated, and until the water shall subside the wreck cannot well be cleared away. In addition to the two men killed a brakeman named Whetsel was seriously if not ratally hurt. Indexapoles, Ind., June 2.—a violent rain and wind storn occurred here last night, which continued from the early part of the evening nuttl atter midnight. Considerable damage was done to several railroads by washing away small bridges and culverts, delaying the night trains. A freight-train on the Bellefontaine Boad ran into a culvert near Oakland this morning, wrecking seven or eight cars. The engineer, Alonzo Rose, and fireman, Ed Bowen, were instantly killed. The country in the vicinity of Fortville is completely immdated.

The Evening News publishes the following special from Cambridge City, June 2: The heavy rains last night and this morning have been very damaging to crops and property throughout the White River Valley, and at this point especially. The west fork of the White River has overflowed its banks, flooding fields in its course and washing away fences and tracks at the raceground. Person Creek, a small throad of a stream, was swollen to a rushing torrent, and besides damaging property along its banks to the extent of $10,000, as it is estimated, it has taken a huge slice out of the Wayne turnpike and arried off the Valley bridge on the Cincinnati Road and several below it. Half a mile east of Cambridge City an engine and three freight trains westward bound over THE ENTENTE OF THE THERE NORTHERN EMPIRES.

VIENNA, May 17.—The Monday Reviere publishes an article upon the return of the Emperor Francis Joseph to Vienna, wherein it says:

His Majesty, on his return, finds the political state of things in Europe resuming its usual course. Peace, and the tendency to maintain it, having acquired renewed strength, issue from the short apparent crisis through which we have recently passed with increased moral power. It is known that the supicion entertained respecting the intentions of Germany is devoid of any foundation in fact, and all the more honor, therefore, is due to her for the positive peaceful assurances to which expression has been given in Berlin during the fast few days. Germany's power stamps them with the full authority of a weighty political decision, whereof the significance can but be enhanced by its infinate connection with the ideas on the basis of which the seizente of the three Northern Empires was established.

The article demonstrates in conclusion, that the ideas on the basis of which the sitents of the three Northern Empires was established.

The article demonstrates, in conclusion, that the Emperor Alexander, of whose warm friendship Germany and Austro-Hungary are able to boast, has, by his visit to Berlin, undoubtedly shown that he considered the object of his interviews with the Emperor to be to strengthen and complete the alliance between the three Emperors, which signifies the maintenance of European pages.

BERLIN, May 19.—A few weeks ago Prince Bismarck addressed a circular communication to the German representatives abroad containing a detailed review of the new French Cadres law, and representing it as prejudicial to the contunuance of peace.

Other circular communications were subsequently issued in the interest of peace by Lord Derby and Prince Gortschakoff.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 2.—A heavy storm visited this city shout 4 p. m., doing great damage to trees and inroding the Lafavette Agricultural Works, Orth's Block, Capt. Welenbillig's boarding-house, and the Linwool Scho.)-House. The school was in seasion at the time, and quite a number of children were seriously injured by by falling brious and debria; but it is thought none fafaily.

Spenal Hisvatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

Bersons, Ind., June 2.—A terrible storm sweep over this section of country last night. The rain fell in torrents, accompanied by binding flashes of lightning and deafening peals of thunder. The Fort Wayne, Muncie & Ciccinnati Kailroad suffered material damage at several points between this station and Cambridge, the road-bed being washed completely from under the trick. The fine new bridge over Sommers' Creek was partially demolished, and two bridges near Gilbert were carried away. At several plices the embankments were washed away. All along the south end of the road the telegraph lines wese prostrated, and travel is today completely suspended south of Newcastle. The storm allo did considerable injury to fences and barns, and damaged crops to a large estent. Cincinnari, O., June 2.—The Commercial's Richmond, Ind., special says a tornado passed over that plase at 6 o'clock to-night, blew in the gable end of the Methodist Church, arushed through the ceiling, and demolished the organ and pulpit. St. Andrew's Church, the largest in the city, was struck by lightning, damaging the steeple and clock, and the slate roof torn off. The German Lutheran church was partly unroofed. The in roofs of the Post-Office lediding and of two or three stores were taken off. Robinson's machine works were partly demolished. Gara, Root & PROBABILITIES IN CASE OF A WAR.

PARIS, May 18.—The New Frankfort Press discusses the probabilities of an attack on Germany by way of Belgium. Assuming that Belgium will remain neutral, and, if necessary, vindicate its neutrality by force of arms, it argues that such an attack is more improbable, now that Germany holds Strasbourg and Metz, than it the winter of 1888, whea Gen. Molitie, in a report published in the history of the war by the General Staff, declared it most unlikely. It doubts whether in the next war France will be able to take the offensive, as the German troops will then be mobilized in nine, or even eight, days, but believes that in that case the French, supported on the left flack by Belgium's neutrality, and secured on the right to some extent by Belfort, would give battle in German Lorraine and Lower Alsace, in order to carry the war quickly into Germany proper. If, on the other hand, the French were not strong enough to take the offensive, or not quickly concentrated on the eastern frontier, a German army of invasion would probably operate on the Marne, on the Rheims, Chalons, and St. Dizier line, which covers Paris, while a strong flank corpain the South would operate on Langres and Auxonne. As to the contingency of an alliacos between France and Belgium, the Presse remarks that Germany might take the lead, and invade France via Verviers. Liege, and Namur, which would be more feasible and more dangerous for France than a French movement by the same route on the Lower Rhine, protected as the latter would be by Metz and Thionvalls.

WADSWORTH'S REMOVAL.

Special Dispublic to The Chicago Tribuma.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—There are no charges filed against Phil Wadsworth at the White House, and if any representations of wrongful acts on Wadsworth's part have been made to the President, they have not been filed, as such charges usually are. It is learned, however, that the dispatch or letter which was sent to Wadsworth stated that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue had been directed by the President of the United States, through the Secretary of the Treasmry, to ask for his resignation for the good of the service. It seemed almost certain that the order directing the request upon Wadsworth to be made came from the White House. It is rumored here, but the rumor is not verified, that this action has not been taken in consequence of information sent here by the agents of the Government now in the West. The officials who ought to know most about the matter do not understand that there is any personal came for Wadsworth's removal other than the fact that francis have been discovered to his district. It had been expected that no action would be taken as regards Wadsworth until the return of Secretary Bristow. It was supposed that he would return to-day, but a telegram was received from him this evening stating that he had been delayed and could not reach here before Friday. He is not now expected to be at the Department before Monday. Under these circumstances, it is quite possible that solion may be taken before the return of Bristow.

SEE.DS—Little was done on the market, but a fair business in the way of filling small orders from convumers was reported at steady prices. The receipts of seed have fallen off almost to zero, and the stock of the kinds now dealt in is concentrated in the hands of a few dealers, who are retailing it out. Hungarian and millet are chiefly wanted. The formet sells at $1.40@1.50, and millet at $1.50@1.60. Timothy is held by speculators who are not trying to sell, now quotable at $2.35@2.60. Other seeds were quiet.

SALT—Fine salt has declined 15c and coarse 30c per bri, in consequence of liberal supplies here and elsewhere. JACKSONVILLE.

Aniversary Exercises of Her Numer

one Institutions of Mental, Vocal, and Manual Culture.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

Jacksonville, Ill., June 2.—Commencement week is fairly under way, and the city is filled with strangers from all parts of the State, who are here to witness the examinations, and other closing exercises in our several institutions of fearning. It is really a festive week with the people of Jacksonville, and they give up all other cares to devote themselves to the intersets and pleasures of the event.

First came the exhibition of the graduating place in the High School. The Opera-House was provided with eager spectators. There were thirteen succe-sful applicants for graduation honors, and the young men and women, for perfection in scholarship, would have done credit to any academy or seminary in the land. The slummi of the High School had an auniversary.

The exercises of the graduating class of the Conservatory of Music occurred Monday evening. Nine young ladies were accorded the hon-ors of this institution for having successfully mastered the different courses of study provided. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was entirely classical, and well rendered.

Tuesday forencen the graduating exercises of the Young Ladies Atheoeum took place at the Opera-House in the presence of a vast people. The entertainment was very meritorious, and the young ladies did themselves much credit in their exercises. Eleven received their diplomas.

Tuesday forenced, also, occurred the closing exercises at the Illinois Institution for the Blind. The speciators were surprised at the proficiency shown and the wonderful capabilities of these sightless pupils. Great credit for the success of the manitumen is due the Superintendent, Dr. Philips, and his corns of faithful teachers.

To-day took place the graduating exercises of the Jacksonville Female Academy. The music, the essays, the paintings exhibited, all told of the thorough discipline imparted at this old and popular institution. The anniversary was the fortu-fifth.

This afternoon the regular biennial remnion of the Sigma Pi Society of Illinois College took places. Gen. Illson delivered an interesting poem. The Society have a banquet to night at the Dunlap House.

THE INDIANS.

OWAMA, Neb., June 2.—The following is re-ceived from Camp Stambaugh, Wy. T., and is official: "Two half-breed Stoux and one white man arrived here to-day from Fetterman, and report that a large body of Sioux, Cheyenne, and Arrapahoe warriors are on their way up the Sweetwater for the purpose of attacking the Shoshone Agency and doing damage to the set-tlers of this locality."

THE ILLINOIS MILLERS.

THE ILLINOIS MILLERS.

Special Disputch to The Cricago Tribuns.

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—The second actual meeting of the State Millers' Association methere to-day, with twenty-eight delegates in attendance. The session will continue to-morrow, when it is expected that a large number of millers from Chicago will be present. George Bane, of St. Louis, President of the National Association, telegraphed the Convention that he would be here to-mocrow, as would all the millers from St. Louis. The President of the Association having died since the last meeting. Mr. McCagne, of this city, who is Vice-President, took the chair. The Convention seems to have two objective points: first, to reduce the rates of insurance on mill-property, either through present insurance on mill-property is nearly 5 per cent, notwithstanding this class of proporty is as well, if not better, built than the average houses where insurance rates are but 2% per cent. The next point is the creation of a court which shall have exclusive jurisdiction over patent cases, and consurrent jurisdiction over patent cases, and consurrent jurisdiction with the Supreme Court of the United States. To effect this the Convention indersed the resolution passed by the National Association asking Congress to pass a law creating such a court, and then adjourned till to-morrow.

IMMENSE MASONIC GATHERING IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 2—The Masonic demonstration to-day is a most imposing affair. The weather is delightful. Flags, bashers, and buoting are everywhere displayed, and the streets through which the procession moves are crowded.

The ceremonies of the dedication of the great new Masonic Temple at Twenty third street and Sixth avenue may be said to have begun yesterday afternoon, when the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the State was opened.

Very much to the satisfaction of the thousands who paraded to-day in the Masonic procession, and to their sympathizing friends, who numbered many more thousands, the sun rose upon an entirely cloudless sky. The 2d of June was ushered in by

THE MOST FAVORABLE OF NATURE'S AUPPICES. At an early hour the city was astir with Masonie bodies moving from headquarters to the point designated for them by the Marshal of the day, an unusual promptness having been observed by most of them, and the result was, that at the hour named for all to be in line very few com-manderies or lodges were out of place. The side streets and avenues leading to the head of the line were gay with music and the floating banners of Knights Templar. Everywhere the red cross showed in the sun, and the familiar motto, "In hoc signo vinces," met the eye on every turn. Soon after 9 o'clock three guns were fired in quick succession from Washington Square, and immediately the signal to move was communicated to the head of the line at Nineteenth street by the waving of guidons. Marshal Preston and his aids then took their positions at the head of the line, and the procession, MARSHALED IN TWENTY DIVISIONS, took up its march, headed by twenty-four took up its march, headed by twenty-four mounted policemen and two platoons of officers on foot. The Marshal's staff and mounted sids were all designated by conspicuous badges, and wore their hand-ome jewels upon the left breast, The commanderies looked well, and the etegance of the appointments, together with the excellence of the discipline, obtained for them many favorable comments along the line of march. Banners ware occasionally supported by a force of Knights, arranged in the shape of a cross.

THE DETROIT COMMANDERS NO. I.
This commandery is said to be the most proficient in the peculiar drill of the Knights Iemplar of sny organization in the country. They were not long in demonstrating their claims to a great deal of credit for celerity and soldierly precision, for soon after the line moved they began their evolutions, and continued them at short intervals all along the line of march without in the least retarding the general movement of the procession. Their movements incline the formation of line with a front of fitty men, and these were formed with such dextericinde the formation of line with a front of fifty men, and these were formed with such dexteri-ty, and in such good order, as to provoke con-stant ap lause, and they went on their way re-warded by a hearty clapping of hands and a fluttering of handkerchiefs from the ladies, who occupied every available window on Broadway where the procession could be seen to advan-tage."

As the eighth division passed Fifteenth street, the blue louges fell into their places from streets on either side of Fifth avenue. Previous to tiffs, their lines had been broken to permit as many of the Order as possible to witness the attractive part of the parade.

The remaining divisions, up to the twenty-sixth, were sixth, were

EACH PROVIDED WITH BANDS OF MUSIC, and consisted of from ton to fifteen lodges esch. Each lodge was represented by from 100 to 200 members, although the divisions were very unequal in strength of numbers.

In the twenty-fifth division (St. John's Lodge, No. 1) was the Bible on which Washington took his first oath of office administered to him as President of the United States. In this division were also house the vessels containing corn were also house the vessels containing corn.

No. 1) was the Bible on which Washington took his first oath of office administered to him as President of the United States. In this division were also borne the vessels containing corn, wine, and oid, and golden symbolic badge, carried by four Worshipful Masters, and the Holy Writings and the square and compass reating upon a cushion of purple velvet.

THE CHANG. OF THE DAY,
Judge John L. Lewis, together with the visiting officers from other jurisdictions, occupied carriages, and in the rear of the line came the Commissioner of Appeal, the Grand Secretary, and the Grand Treasurer, preceding the Grand Master, who rode between four Grand Stewards, bearing their rods of office.

The decorations were numerous, and in the main tasteful, but among Itadison and Fifth avenues there was an absence of display, with the exception of flags, which were displayed from the Union League Club Building and a few private residences and hotels.

THE DECORATIONS AT THE TEMPLE were not profuse, but they were arranged with good taste and to the best advantage.

It is estimated that there were not less than 4,000 Knights Templar in line, representing about forty lodges of Masons. There were nearly 200 lodges represented by an average of 100 men. The bands of music were thirty-nine in number, and the parade was fully 24,000 strong. The regulations as to dress were, almost will hout exception, complied with, and, the few instances in which they were disregarded made individuals who wore low hats or figured pantaloons conspicuous objects in the procession.

THE BOUTE.

With the exception of short halts, which are unavoidable in moving so large a body, the line moved along the prescribed route with but trifling interruption, passing through South Fifth avenue. Causl street, Broadway, Fourteenth street, Frith avenue, Twenty-second street, Masison avenue, and Twenty-third street to the Temple. As the line advanced, it was met with hand-clapping and huzzaing on every side, and numberless women at windows freely waved their handkerchiefs. T curied two hours and a half in passing a fiven point. Broadway

PRESENTED AN FXTRAORDINARY APPEARANCE. Immediately below Canal street the roadway was blooked with carriages and wagons filled with spectators, as, indeed, were all the sides of streets on which the line passed. The houses, many sof them, were decorated with flags and streamers, and some of them were decorated with Masonic symbols, and the windows and roofs of buildings were crowded with spectators. Groups of ladices occupied all the sacwwindows, and the sidewaks, to the curbstone, were jammed with spectators, all of whom, seemingly, entered fully into the spirit of the affair. During occasional breaks in the line, policemen assisted the car-drivers and eartmen to cross the streets with their vehicles, but for the most part traffic was suspended entirely along the line of march.

THE GRAND LODGE.

After several hours weary waiting, the crowd assembled in front of the Temple were gladdened by the arrival of the Grand Lodge. The officers alighted from carriages at the curbstone, and marched up the steps, headed by the Grand Master and accompanied by Pase Grand officers, representatives of other men, and lodges, and special guests. It was ten minutes of 2 when the large body began the ascent of the stairs, and the last member did not pass in until nearly half an hour afterwards. At the head of the stairs they were met by officers having the ceremonics in charge, and directed to their proper positions in the half of the Grand Lodge.

The hall was not decorated, except at the east end, where, on a raised platform, there were MANY BEAUTHPUL FLORAL ADDEMANENTS.

On either side of the stage stood the pillars of the temples, the cuter porch made of evergreen and ivy leaves, twinced, except at the cast in the body of the room.

The musical programme consisted of a Masonic hymn for a bartone solo and chorus, "Thou who art God alone," written by Dr. Loopold Damrosch expressly for the occasion, and conducted by him in person; a Tedenm by Prof. Caswell; a Masoni ising.

One hundred and twelve replies received from 109 companies, giving an average increase in acreage this year over last of about 7 per cent. The weather has been generally dry and cold, and the crops are said to be about two weeks later. Plants small and backward, but in good condition. Labor abundant and efficient. Fertilizers comparatively unused.

The party refreshed themselves, and then proceeded to the building, where they were joined by Superintendent Holman and the Assistant Superintendent of the same name. The party of five then passed into the Custom-House inclosure, and made a casual examination of the walls and foundations in a hurried manner, it being the intention of the Commission to await the arrival of Gen. Smith before making a formal engineering survey. It is expected that Gen. Smith will arrive to-day, and the investigation will commence as soon as he joins his coadjutors.

It was not to be expected that the three gentlemen named could have made any very important discoveries in a casual walk through the building and yard, yet the result of their short expedition was the discovery of a remarkable piece of sharp practice hitherto unnoticed by any one who has looked at the sand-heap in the Government interest.

In order to thoroughtu understand the peculiar importance of the Commission's discovers, it will be necessary to go back to

ARKANSAS.

Twenty-three counties show an increase of acreage of about 3 per cent. The weather has been more favorable than last year, and the lands have been very well prepared. Owing to a cold spell at the beginning of this month, the plant is very small, but the stand being good and the fields clear of grass, the prospects are more favorable than last year. It has been heretofore shown that the walls exhibit even now various colors and qualities of stone, as well as the symptoms of peeling which flave been commented on. It was naturally to be supposed that the worst had been seen, and that the natural faces of the blocks as shown in the work were as bad as the quality and texture of the stone would anywhere develop, but the discovery which the Commission have already made shows that even worse discolorations than those now seen have formerly existed. A careful examination of the walls shows that many of the stone have been naturally and the true of the stone in the building. The attempt has been made by somebody to cover up with coloring matter the iron, petroleum, and other stains in some of the stones which may be presumed to have been among the worst in the building. The attempt has been only partially successful, for the substance used, whatever it may have been, has produced on some of the stone a chalky white entirely unlike the adjacent blocks, and equally unlike the natural color of the stone.

It is not so difficult a matter to detect the Area planted in cotton increased about 5 per cent. The weather compares favorably with last year, though planting was delayed somewhat by the cold spring. There was an appreciable difference in the time of planting. A fair average stand has been obtained, and the condition is reported an average. Labor is represented as more efficient. The use of fertilizers has been increased about 20 per cent.

Reports received show an average decrease in the area planted in cotton of one-half of 1 per cent. Weather reported as somewhat less favorable than last year. Stands and condition represented as good. Labor about the same, and the use of fertilizers increased about 6½ per cent.

The area of land planted in cotton is said to be about as last year, the weather having been unfavorable for planting, but more favorable since its completion. It is not so difficult a matter to detect the whitewashed blocks as may be supposed, because the marks of the brush or cluth used in laying on the wash are easily distinguishable on close examination. The work in many cases resembles the unskillfel job of an apprentice painter. Another means of detecting the stained blocks is the carelessness of the man who applied the wash, whereby he has, in many cases, colored a part of the stone next above or under the one on which he was working. Again, the whitewasherhas carefully covered some of the block faces, and at the same time neglected the channels, or side faces, of the same holek. In order to

The question as to

is one not easily solved. It is pretty clear that Gen. Holman did not order it, and it is equally clear that it must have been done under the administration which preceded his. It is most charitable to suppose that some of the workmen did it without Mueller or Rankin's knowledge, just as they did the patching. Some workmen will do such things—in Muellar's printed defense if nowhere else.

By the way, it is a curious commentary on the influence and circulation of the paper which printed Mueller's defense that some one has deemed it necessary to transfer the type and reprint that extraordinary document in pamphlet form for free circulation. The ex clerk and claim agent who is just now sicering affairs for the defense could easily have advised better policy than the making public such a document as that.

Curious persons who have read the call for bids, reprinted above, will see how exactly it tallies with the statement often made that Mullett had fixed matters so that Mueller could not help getting the Chicago contract.
In the first place, he cuts off any bidding for himestone, and so gets rid of the Joliet, Quiney, Gresonburg, and other like quarries at one stroke of the pen, but with no reason given or alleged. Without following the document through, it may be said, in short, that the document, when read by the light-of latter days, will convince any man who knows all the circumstances that there was very curious work in the stone business from the time Mueller bought Mullett's patch of land for $60,000.

MR. BRIERLY, LATE OF THE CUSTOM-BOURS, BATE HE IS NOTA BAD CASE.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:

ILLINOIS HOURE, INDIANAPOLIS, May 31, 1873.—
In your issue of Saturday, May 29, you published an article concerning me, signed J. McC., an exemploye, which I deem needs a reply, to place my self in a proper light before my fellow-citizens. J. McC. thinks there is too much back-biting in the Custom-House affairs, and I must state that this attempt of his is the worst case of back-biting I ever read or beard of. Why could be not publish what he had to say before I left the city, which I did on Tuesday, May 25? He accuses me of being the author of an article in the Times of Thursday, which I solemnly declare I know nothing about and have never seen.

As for accusing Warner of inability, I know nothing about the man, comparatively speaking, as I never exchanged five minutes talk with him during my term of employment on the works; and in regard to Mr. Rankin and Mr. Coey, I have nothing to say until I am asked. Mr. Rankin did discharge me last August, when I was in Watertown. Wis., visiting a friend who had been hurt and was not expected to live; but when he became acquainted with the gircumstances, I was reinstated, which all of the officials on the works can testify to. In regard to my being an emigrant, I certainly acknowledge that I saw light before I came to America, and I presume there are a few more in the same fix, and, if they are all to be treated as J. McC. would wish, they have my sympathy. I was merely a boy when I came to this country, and had served only two years and a half of my spperaticeship. I finished my term with Mr. John Adair, boss shone-outer, in New York, which place I left and came to Chicago two years ago last month, and was employed on the Custom-House until recently, when I was discharged on suspicion of having appessible to the Supervising Architect, Mr. Potter, to be relieved from unjust and tyrannical impositions—of money collections for a Justice Pollak thought the sureties were not proper, as it was objectionable for one official to go upon the bond of another.

The Town Clerk replied that the bond had been approved by him. He had considered these sureties good, but, if they were not so regarded, the Supervisor would be able to secure the names of others which would be unexceptionable.

Justice Meech moved to, instruct the Supervisor to Mr. Meech said it would be necessary to provide the Town Clerk with books in which he might keen the record of the Board's business. might keep the record of the Board's business.

Justice DeWolf.—As the former Town Clerk is hers, I would like to ask him a question: Mr. Gruenhut, are you ready to give up the town records?

Assessor Philips said that Assistant Assessors on the North and West Sides were paid $5 per day each.

The motion to fix the price at that figure was concurred in.

Justice Halnes seconded the resolution to the matter was left in their hands.

Justice Neech hinted that Evans might buy up the C. A.

Justice Pollak thought that if the matter were left to the Citizens' Association it would never be disposed of.

Justice Pollak avked if it would not be a good scheme to include John Schank in the resolution, as he was reported to have money in his hands.

Justice Meech said that it was reported that Evans withheld $14,000 of town funds, and that Evans withheld $14,000 of town funds, and that John Schank still retained about $3,500. But as they had no records they could not prove these allegations, and were consequently in no position to adopt the resolution. Gruenhut, he had heard, had

On motion of Justice Wallace, the resolution was amended so as to include John Schank.

Justice Haines moved that the resolution be postponed until the books could be recovered. The motion was adopted.

The ladies of the Chicago Flower Mission met resterday morning, as usual, at the rooms of the Athensum, No. 65 Washington street. A large number of ladies were in attendance. Liberal donations of flowers were sent in from adjoining towns, and from florists and other friends in the city, but owing to the rainy weather of the usst two days, there were not as many received as last week. A goodly number of bonquets were made up and distributed among the principal hospitals and charitable institutions in the city. The Society meets Wednesday morning of each week at 9 o'clock, and cordially invites the co-operation of all who are interested in this noble work. Ladies in adjoining towns who wish to aid can obtain full information in regard to the work by addressing Mrs. Dr. Mitchell, No. 871 Michigan avenue, or Miss C. P. Felton, No. 187 Oak street.

James Denicke, a young man from Peekskill, N. Y., who has become discouraged because of a failure to procure employment, attempted suicide at his lodgings in the Merchants' Hotel, No. 12 South Water street, night before last, by taking a dose of landanum. Dr. Paine saved his life, and he was removed to the County Hospital. He has a sister at Tpslianti, Mich. Denicke, poorly elad, entered the drug store of James Boland, 53 South Clark street, Friday evening about 6 c'elock. He asked for laudanum. Mr. Boland told him he could not have it unless he had a physician's prescription. Denicke said he had no prescription, that he had been an opium-ester for eight years, and there need be no fear of his taking tio much of the drug, for he had often takee as much as 2 ounces at a dose, and thought he could take 4, and it would do him no harm. He said that he was suffering terribly from theumatism, and must have something for relief. While Denicke and Mr. Boland were conversing, Dr. W. C. Hunt came in, and heard a part of the conversation, in which he joined. The man plead for the landanum with all the ardor of a confirmed opium-easer, which his appearance inducted he was. Both Dr. Hunt and Mr. Boland were in, doubt what to do, but finally Denicke got 4 ounces of Isudanum, and went away with the parting injunction that he take it only in small doses, and then only as a sedative to afford relief from his rheumatic usins. The esquence showed his strong determination to rid himself of life. His condition was quite preparations at last accounts.

Commissioner McCaffrey was willing to have a dozen architects if necessary to harmonize things, and the people were willing to pay them. Commissioner Crawford said that some believed that, when they came to understand one another, they pretty nearly agreed. He thought the Board should ignore the pending motions, and let a conference of Commistees be had.

Commissioner McCaffrey's motion was withdrawn, and the report of the Committee was, on motion of Commissioner Crawford, amended as a simply to request that the Council appoint a committee of five to confer with the Building Committee of the Board on the subject.

The report as amended was concurred in, and, on motion of Commissioner Schmidt, the Chair was instructed to make a temporary appointment to fill the place of Commissioner Guenther (disabled by sickness) on the Building Committee during the conference. The Chair appoints 1 Commissioner Crawford. The Board adjourned till Monday.

WHAT IT COSTS THE CITY.

It is expected that next week the parties who have been contesting the Dearborn street assessment in the courts, and who were recently pracment in the courts, and who were recently prac-tically defeated in their attempt to overthrow it, will make their final appeal to the Judge and en-deavor to secure, if not a reduction of the total amount of benefits, at least a redistribution of than it has already become liable for, and that THE EXACT AMOUNT which it will cost it to open Dearborn street south of Jackson may now be definitely stated. The total amount of assessment for damages, including the expense of court proceedings, time of Commissioners, etc., amounted to $1,122,011.53. Under the original assessment the city was called upon to pay $28,050.29. The discovery of errors in the assessment by the city authorities made after it was top late city authorities made after it was top late to correct them, and assumed by the city, increased this amount $6,612.52$. When the jury first came in, after hearing all the evidence concerning all the assessments for benefits, they found that the property south of Sixteenth street, west of Clark, and between Clark street and the river and Stewart avenue was not benefited, the total amount assessed thereon being about $18,000. The Judge, however, sent them have with matruitions to prepare

"THE BHYSTER CASES."
To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune; LAW OFFICE OF WILLIAM T. BOTLER, 59 SOUTH CLARK STREET, ASHLAND BLOCK, CHICAGO, June 1, 1875.—In THE TRIBONE of the 30th ult. there is an editorial headed "The Shyster Cases," in which injustice (unintentional, of course) is done to the parties plaintiff therein referred to. Presuming that THE TRIBUNE, when satisfied that a wrong has been done through its colum rejoice in the opportunity to right such wrong, I have deemed it not improper on my part to tender it assistance to that end.

The article alluded to, among other things, states: "A defense in both cases was that the

The article alluded to, among other things, states: "A defense in both cases was that the term 'shyster' was not necessarily libelous, and there was a mass of testimony as to the proper signification of the word; in adultion, there was the general defense of justification."

The statement contained in the last (the italicized) clause of the souteone quoted is wholly untrue. In one of the cases a plea of justification had been filed by mistake; but defendant's attorneys had asked leave to withdraw it, and it had been withdrawn by leave of the Court, the plaintiff consenting. In the other case the pleas of justification filed therein were held to be bad on demurror, and were therefore as effectually out of that case as if they had been withdrawn, or had never been pleaded. On trial there was no justification issue, nor was there any attempt at or pretense of justification in either case. In the case last tried the general reputation of the plaintiff was attacked, not by way of defense, however, but with a view to mitigate damages; nothing more. In the other case, neither the general, personal, nor professional reputation of the plaintiff was put in issue, nor in way questioned. The defense was based wholly on the alleged harmless meaning of the word "ahyster," which the deciaration averred to be "false, scandalous, analicous, and defamatory."

The facts here stated are matters of record and the writer of the article alluded to ought to have known them. The Tarntone is surely aware that if it sees fit to publish a statement. The that if it sees fit to publish a statement of a trial or proceeding in a court of justice, it is bound to publish a fair and true statement. The records are open to it, but before teiling the world what any particular record is, the writer should read and understand it. He is not at liberty to guess at or garble it, and then publish his guesses or garblings as the proceedings in, or the judgment of, the court; even though some of the parties to such record may be so extremely humble as to be unknown to the persons who at present call themselves "we" in The Tanunes. To be unknown to such persons may perhaps be a misfortune, though not necessarily a very damaging one; but to be misrepresented by them is another matter. I assume that the statement that "there was a general defense of employed W. W. O'Bries to defend him.

The Sheriff was yesterday in receipt of a letter from one William Baird, of Rockford, from the contents of which it would not be unsafe to say that the gentleman was suffering from a diseased brain. The letter purports to have been written by the United States Treasurer, is addressed to the "care of the Postmaster," and starts out with anying that it is written upon the authority of the President, Horace Greeley, and the Vice-President, Brown Gratz. The letter has a financial bearing, but nothing intelligent could be made of it. Prequent reference was made to the Fifth National Bank of Chicago, and the issuing of State bonds. The writer says in one scatence that he has ordered the Fifth National Bank to ship to Cleveland, O.; to William Murray and John Low, members of Congress, quitg a large sum of money. The letter was written in a German-English hand, and very indistinct. The Sheriff spont an hour in trying to make something out of it, and finally consigned it to a private drawer.

The question of when the Court-House shall by them is another matter. I assume that the temperature of untification?" was made ignorably, not maintenally. It is a misrepresentation, however, and not an entirely harmless one, and therefore untit to be corrected.

I agree with you, Mr. Editor, as to the meaning of the word "shyster," and I further agree with you that "there is need for such a word." as generally understood, it is descriptive of a lease made up of attorneys and pseudo attorneys.

justice, and decent respect for the rights of reputation, that he dare to write or publish false, scandalous, malicious, and defamatory libels to the (it may be irreparable) injury of persons he knows nothing about. Such a "scab" on the editorial profession ought to be branded with a name that would effectually set him apart from the intelligent, discreet, and conscientious editor who honors his profession; who, while he knows everything, yet has so high a sense of right, justice, discretion, and decency that he never publishes all he knows; never intentionally traduces or offends anybody (except the wrong man in office or a pestilent politician out of place); and who, when through mistake or inadvertence any person, however humble, may have been injured by his paper, hasteus to make the proper amende, and does it so promptly, effectively, and completely, that the wound is healed at once, and all the world can see he desires to do right; that he respects the rights of others, and that, instead of in any way favoring the role of an editorial ruffian, he is penetrated with a healthy ambition to be considered a gentleman. RURAL ADVICE

BURAL ADVICE.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:
ROCHESTER, Ind., May 31.—The commu tion in THE TRIBUNE of May 29, over the signs ture of W. S. Stephens, suggesting, as a final resort, the organization of a Vigilance Commit-tee in order to rid your city of bunko-thieves and confidence men, has, to my way of thinking, struck the right notion. It is indeed a burning shame that in a city of churches and Christian people such scoundrels should be permitted, for even a day, to ply their villainous practices to the extent they seem, from the newspaper re-ports, to be doing in Chicago. Either through the insufficiency of the law or the complicity of policemen, the damnable work of thieves and robbers in your city seems to thrive, and inrobbers in your city seems to thrive, and, in-stead of being checked is their work, they are becoming bolder and more desperate. My voice is for the organization of a Vigilance Com-mittee; don't stand on the order of doing it, but do it at once. Notify the bunke and confidence men to leave the city within twenty-four bours, and if they fail to do it, lynch them, bours, and if they fail to do it, lynch them, every one of them, sud my word for it, the people of the rural towns and districts will throw up their caps at the result. Men of the rural towns, even now, dread a visit to your city through fear of loss of property and life. Cleam out the thieves if you don't want the tide of trade to be turned from your city and its general prosperity injured. Again I say, clean them out, ivnch them, any way to get rid of them. The world will be the better for being iid of them, and especially will Chucago be the gainer thereby.

D. McCox. THE CONTEMPT CASE. To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:
CHICAGO, June 2.—The "contempt case" now ending before Judge Williams is exciting considerable interest, not only among the citizens of Chicago, but among the people generally. For this reason it seems to me that in discussing this matter pains ought to be taken to state all the facts correctly. In your editorial of this morning you say that if Judge Williams decides in favor of the defendants, the "decision will be accepted as a judicial notice to every man in the community that he may violate any injunction served upon him with perfect im-injunction served upon him with perfect impunity, if he can hire an attorney to give an opinion that the Court had no jurisfiction."

"It will be a precedent that will lead to snarchy and law-breaking." Now, the truth of the matter is, that the law of contempt will in no wise be affected by any decision that Judge Williams will make in the case. The Aldermen do not take refuge under the fact of having had advice from attorneys, but under the claim that the advice was good,—in accordance with the law. That is to say, that the Court did not have jurisdiction to issue the writ, and that it was a void writ, which is no writ, and therefore could not be disobeyed. No one claims that it is contempt to disobey a writ issued without jurisdiction. If, then, Judge Williams refuses to punish the Aldermen, it will be an acknowledgment that he did not have authority to issue the writ of injunction. Disobedience of a writ lawfully issued always has been a contempt, and that rule of law will not be changed by a decision that an injunction will not lie to restrain the canvassing of election returns.

The Addermen still hang over the "ragged edge" with a fondness that is anything but indicative of kindly feelings towards Judge Williams. They are in dread of being sent to jail, and yet they do not know how it can be avoided if they are to be punished at all. Word was yesterday sent to the Law Department that the Judge would deliver his decision Monday. A SIDEWALK TO THE PARKS. To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune: CHICAGO, May 31.—Now that the authorities have repaired Madison street so as to make it passable for teams and pleasure-seekers, would it not be well for them to look after the interests of the charter of 1872 had more to do with the erection of that building than most people suppose, and that the reault of that election was a victory for those in favor of having the Court-House on the West Side. It was claimed that, with the city organized under the act of 1872, the West Side would have centrel of the Common Council, which body would never consent to the erection of the Court-House upon the old site. The County Board was regarded as easy to capture, and the location of the building on the West Side it was claimed depended upon the finality of the proceeding now in Court in reference to the legality of the election by which organization under the act of 1872 was carried. The squabbling over the Court-House between the County Board and the Common Council has aroused the suspicion that there is something in connection with the whole affair as yet untold. Does the above explain the delay, the bickering and strife or is there yet a further explanation?

I never was more struck with the necessity for this improvement than Sunday, as hundreds were wending their way in that direction, picking their paths the best they could. With a number of children to take care of, it is no easy walk. A great many improvements in building are now going on or are about to be commenced on Madison street to the park, and even for the convenience of those it is a matter of necessity. Will not the authorities attend to this?

At the instance of Gault & Law, solicitors for the Chicago Building Society, Justice Haines yesterday afternoon issued a warrant for the arrest of D. James Leary, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Last October Leary was solicitor for the defendant in the case of the Chicago Building Society vs. Elizabeth Haas, and, pending the decision of the Circuit Court on the report of Master-in-Chancery Willard, he entered into a stipulation with Mr. Gault that the Court should enter a decree against his client for the amount stated in the report, $23,785, and that the money would be paid the following Saturday. He stated, it is alleged, that Mrs. Haas had that amount of borrowed money in bank and succeeded, it is claimed, in obtaining from Mr. Gault the sum of $356 wherewith to pay an amount of interest due thereon. The money was advanced on Leary's note of hand, he representing himself to be worth some $40,000. Since that time neither Leary nor his client has been heard from by the Society, and, on making the discovery that neither of them has any means, it was deemed advisable to cause Leary's arrest on the charge mentioned.

Officer J. J. Bonban was yesterday arraigned before the Police Trimwirate on charges of the case, Police-Court-lawyor Callaghan made an eloquent and flery address, insulted Commissioner Kloike, and so succeeded in having a fine of five days' pay imposed upon his client.

The Finance Committee again met yesterday affernoon for the consideration of the estimates. In their efforts to reduce taxation to 15 miles, they out down the sewerage appropriation from 1 mill to half a mill, leaving about $2150,000 for that purpose. The estimate of the Police Library was thrown out, the Treasurer's books showing a balance of $42,000 in his heir favor. Six thousand three hundred doilars of this is in the Gage deficiency, and the balance is uncollected. The Committee acknowledge that this act will provoke considerable discussion, and, as Ald. Quirk puts it, their only defense lies in the fact that they have been compelled to throw out appropriations for school-houses in districts where there was an absolute need of them. Besides this they say that altogether too many novels and too much other trashy literature are promulgated by the Library, more than is healthy for the budding intellect of Chicago. With the balance yet remaining to their account they calculated any one in all theofices excepting one. The Committee that the Library Board can drag along another weary year. Salaries will be discussed to day, and serious reductions are calculated any one in all theofices excepting one. The Committee that the Library Board can drag along another weary year. The Committee hope to complete their labors in time to send their recommendations to the Council by Monday evening.

CHICAGO.

A STRANGE TRANSACTION.

Two bills were filed against Snyder & Lee, real estate agents, and one Charles G. Harris, Monday, but suppressed for service, which make some rather grave charges against the real estate men. The first bill is by Edward Morier, who states in substance that he was on the 13th day of March, 1874, the owner of the S. E. × of the N. E. ½ of Sec. 18, 37, 15. On that day Shader & Lee saud him to allow them S. E. % of the N. E. % of Sec. 16, 37, 15. On that day Shyder & Lee saked him to allow them to sell this land for him. He agreed, and a written contract was made by which they were to have the sale of the property for ten days at the specified price of $750 an acre. Morier heard nothing of them until about the 1st of April, 1874, when he received a letter dated April, 1874, when he received a letter dated March 21, but postmarked April 1, which stated that they had sold his land for the specified price to one Charles G. Harris, who had paid $100 to bind the bargain. Complainant replied that they had not made the sale within the time limited, and he did not care to complete it. Nothing further was said or done until several weeks after, when, on looking as the records he learned that an on looking at the records, he learned that an agreement had been made with Harris, and agreement had been made with harris, and signed by Suyder & Lee, as agests for him (compisinant), in which he purported to convey the 10 acres above named for $7,500. Moner then called on Snyder & Lee, when they in-formed him that they had made the sale, that Harris had aigned his name to the agreement made with them, and that the agreement on record had been placed there by E. Roby.

Morier alleges that the sale was not made within the specified time; that Harris was not at the time in the city, but was in some or the Southern States, and has not been except for a nothing of the transaction. After a time he again visited Shyder & Lee and demanded a release. They promised to get it, and in a few days reported that they had fixed a time with Hafris when he would execute the paper. But the release has not yet been made. After waiting for several months, complainant a few wew weeks ago made out a warranty deed, hunted up Harris, and presented it to him, with wew weeks ago made out a warranty deed, hunted up Harris, and presented it to him, with the request that he would keep his contract or give a release. Harris, however, fefused to do either, claiming that he knew nothing of the transaction. Morier, on the strength of the above facts, alleges that Snyder & Lee, about the time they made the agreement with him, made other similar contracts with divers persons by which they, agreed to sell lands adjoining his to the same purchaser, C. G. Harris. These sales, complainant says, were none of them made in good faith, but as a speculation, using the name of Harris as a convenience, and if any one could be found to purchase, Harris would take the property, but if not, the sale would be repudiated, or held for the purpose of exterting money to get a release and clear the title. Morier also says that he has fully performed his part of the agreement by tendering the deed to Harris, which was refused. He therefore asks for a release of the agreement, so that the cloud on his title may be removed.

The second bill is of a similar character, and filed by J. J. Kreer and S. W. Rice, to clear the title to the E. ½ of the S. W. ½ of the N. E. 30 of the N.
